Appearance of Promising Material Brightens Outlook at Randolph-Macon.

Randolph-Macon.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
Ashland, Va., September 20.—Coach Rice Warren had the candidates for the Randolph-Macon football team out this afternoon, and put them through some light preliminary practice, trying especially to get on to some of the fundamentals of the new rules. About thirty men reported and a huskier set the college has yet to see. They looked good to the crowd on the side lines. The speed shown was what pleased the followers of the game most, and dope for the season became brighter, even than it had before.

The four-lettered men backs were out, and in tip-top condition. They are Captain Harry A. Rowe, right halfback, of Hampton; John C. Simpson, left halfback; Jordan, left guard, and Chapman, right guard.

Among last year's second team, men who are here again are Wray, halfback; Wightman and B. B. Bane, fullbacks, M. N. Fisher, tackle, R. Frank bane, quarterback; W. B. White and
S. H. Ware, ends; E. B. Turner, tackle,
The most promising of the new material appears to be among S. F. Woodhouse, T. L. Cleaton, P. B. Hopkins,
C. B. Tebbs, E. L. Copley, R. Marye,
S. H. Woodhouse, E. P. Barrow, A. C.
Tucker, J. B. Douglas, E. F. Sheffey, R.
L. Thomas, C. A. Harrell, R. R. Hottell and L. F. Blanton,
At a meeting of the General Athletic Association this morning, E. B. Prettyman was elected president of the association to take the place left vacant by the resignation of E. T.
Drewry.

Yiddish Play.

The genius produced by that strange world called the Ghetto has long attracted wide attention. One of the most remarkable institutions of the large Jewish glyonies is the Yiddish theatre. The powerful native attractions of the Chetto and the fine playing of the Yiddish artists has more than surprised visiting Americans, who were moved to admiration, though the could not understand the language of the Yiddish theatre. The theatre-goers of this city will have sheen believed. But the opportunity to-night to witness a Yiddish play, given by the New York Yiddish operate Company, which is under the personal direction of Edwin A. Relkin, and which has appeared in the best theatres of America. They will present one of their latest and most successful plays, written by a prominent Yiddish playwright. This company is headed by the well-known and popular Yiddish star, David Levenson, and he will appear at the Academy to-night.

Efforts of physicians to-day to locate the bullet with which Mrs. Max Henrick, wife of the city editor of the Spartanburg Herald, sought to end her life yesterday, proved futile, and the statement was given out that there was little hope of her recovery. No cause has been assigned for the attempted self-destruction. It was stated that the young woman had been subject to temporary spells of insanity for several years.

An amendment was issued to the charter of the Atwood Gunning Club, Incorporated, Norfolk, Va., increasing the par value from $500 to $1,000 per	pay the money, it was decided to let the auditing committee settle that question.  After a great deal of discussion about fines, which had not been paid, it was decided to adjourn until October 10 to hear the report of the auditing committee. Then it was decided to appoint two more committees, a welfare committee and a circuit committee, although it is not known what the circuit will be, and the reports of the committees will be heard on October 10. Then the meeting adjourned for good.  Except for the appointment of the three committees nothing in the world was done. It is true that Mr. Consolvo stated that he would organize an independent league if the salary limit was not lowered, and that Mr. Snead, of Danville, stated that he was ready to drop out of the Virginia League and purchase the Montreal franchise in the Eastern League for Danville, but that was all. Except that Norfolk, Richmond and Petersburg gained all that valuable time for which they worked so hard.

along the same lines, with the sams clubs, salary limit and other things, as have been in vogue for the past five years. And Mr. Consolvo, of Norfolk, delivered his ultimatum.

Mr. Consolvo stated that either the salary limit would have to be reduced and Norfolk get more money-making games or Norfolk would drop. He stated that if the league continued under the same conditions that have governed it for five years he was perfectly willing to give the Norfolk franchise to anyhody who wanted it and would not even ask for a season ticket to the games. He told the magnates that if the old conditions were to hold they could consider Norfolk out of the question.

The argument was good. Immediately after Mr. Consolvo took his seat the motion to continue the league at it has always been was downed by the solid vote of Norfolk, Richmond and Petersourg.

Then the meeting was adjourned again. Again Mr. Snead gave rise to that time honored remark, "But, genquemen, what have we donor." It seems that Mr. Snead was not willing to travel from Danville to Richmond and back again merely to appoint a committee to audit the accounts of the secretary.

After a great deal of talking, ar Williams and Mr. Snead brought up

After a great deal of talking, ar Williams and Mr. Snead brought up the question of finances, and it was shown that the league could pay its indebtedness after all the outstanding bills were settled. During this little talk it was shown that the Portsmouth franchise was sold by the league for practically $400.

Of this $400. Mr. Bradley, of Richmond, took $300 in payment of a loan he had made to the Portsmouth club. Mr. Snead objected to this, and Mr. Bradley explained that the club was sold to Petershurg with the explicit understanding that he should be reimbursed to the extent of $300 out of the purchase money. Mr. Snead couldn't see it that way, and, although Mr. Bradley declared that he knew he was right about the matter, and would not pay the money, it was decided to let the auditing symmittee settle the question. pay the money, it was decided to let the auditing committee settle that question.
